TENEMENT-HOUSE FIRE.

One Hundred Families Driven Out in the Bnow.

New York, March 14.—[By the Associated Presa.] Antonio Marino was aroused from his sleep at 4 o'clock this morning, in a rear room on the first floor of a tenement house in Mulberry street, by flames rising from the cellar. He succeeded, with difficulty, in wakening several men sleeping in his room, who were aiready partly overcome by smoke. Their cries aroused the innates of the upper floors and of the adjoining houses, and in a few minutes nearly 100 families were standing in the cold and anow of the streets. The immense banks of snow prevented the fire engines from reaching the house, but after much exertion a line of hose was got to it and the fire subdued.

"Those people who are hungering and thirsting for the air of the Pacific Coast in oder that they can put their honest dollars into California real estate may possibly have their appetite satisfied and their thirst quenched without the long ride across the sage-brush plains. Stand-She Tells a Very Straight Story-The Shorthand Reporter Under a Redbot Examination.

In Department 1 of the Superior Court resterday the hearing of the Bodkin-Elam muraer case was resumed. At last the trial approaches a termination, and the delays which have been characteristic of the case from the time it was first heard in the courts are about to be put an end to by the speedy termination of the trial. The first witness put forward yesterday morning was J. W. Miller, whose testi-

THE POLICE COMMISSION.

They Hold a Love Feast in the Mayor's Office.

The Police Commissioners met at the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon, with the full board, Mayor Workman, Mr. Humphreys and Chief Cuddy present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A numerously signed protest was received against the granting of a saloon license for the place between Hill and Fort, on Second street, and, on motion of Chief Cuddy, the license was refused.

An application for a saloon license was received from Grazin & Johnson, City Gardens, and on motion of Chief Cuddy it was granted.

An application was also received from J. Mothers and the previous research and approved the committed that the witness should be allowed to explain, and not be forced to commit himself by a simple affirmative or negative, which would probably convey a wrong impression to the minds of the plate.

ANOTHER "CHILD" WITNESS.

Lily Bodkin, the eldest daughter of the defendant, then gave her evidence, and said: I am ils years old, and am the oldest child of the defendant. Mr. Elam used harsh language to father, mother and all of us. I remember the 18th, particularly, because it was my birthday. He abused father and mother, and said he would duck me in the ditch. I told mother about it when I went home. Father was away at Long Beach.

Cross-examination: I was not present at the previous trial until the arguments were commenced. Elam spoke first to me on the day in question as I was leading our cow home. I gave him no provocation. During the previous trial I was at San Gabriel taking care of the six children. Three were at home all the time, and sometimes the others were also at home.

Mrs. Bodkin was recalled and stated: During 1856 my son Johnny was at home. I have never heard him use a bad or a vulgar word in my life.

Mrs. Cordell was recalled and testified to the good character of Johnny Bodkin, and said he was not addicted to using bad words in conversation with his playfellows.

J. J. Bodkin was recalled, and also denied having heard Johnny use bad language, and identified his hat as the one previously put in evidence and spoken of by Mr. Miller.

Mr. Wilter then arose and made a motion to the effect that all of Jesson's testimony previous to the 8th of March be stricken out. The Court sustained the motion, and it was so ordered.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

A "Moosical" Mouse. Los Angeles March 14.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Will you or some other wise man kindly inform a tenderfoot how to catch, kill, shoot or drown these Southern California mice? We have a mice (sic.), that gets into our bureous, etc. He seems very fond of old papers, such as sheet mosic (sic.), patterns, old newspapers, etc. We can readily understand why he eats mosic (sic.). He must be learning it, and mosic (sic.). He must be learning it, and he probably is learning to read on the old newspapers the same as some of the rellows at the public library, but it is not so clear why he eats old patterns. The little unsuphistocated mouse-trap, like we used in the East, don't seem to be equal to the occasion. Cheese on a wire don't seem to lure him on to distinction as it used to in the East. I expect the mouse has imbibed more of this climate than the trap has. Can you suggest anything to help us out on the mice question? If you can I will help you boom the country.

THE BEAR VALLEY RESERVOIR

A Stupendous and Remarkable Bit of Engineering.

1 (Correspondence Scientific American.)

Leaving the small settlement of Crafton we wind through the Mill Creek Callon, then climb over the San Bernardino Monhain at an elevation of 5600 feet above the sea, or 4100 feet above Redlands. Then we go down and through the Santa Ana Valley and cross the next ridge at an elevation of 7600 feet. Then we descend 1200 feet and ride three miles further, when we come to the great Bear-valley dam, which backs up the Bear Valley Lake or great reservoir, as it is now called. One is spell-bound as he examines this stupendous piece of work and realizes the labor that it cost. All of the coment and other materials, excepting the granife, which was quarried near by, was carried by teams and pack muies 100 miles, and each barrel of cement cost $13 when delivered at the dam. It took a team two weeks to reach the Colton rallroad station, and the engineers and laborers lived in radely-constructed log huts for six months. From Colton the route was up the Cajon Pass, thence over the Mojave Desert, then through "Lucky" Baldwin's silver-mine trail to the end of the dam. The dam is built of big blocks of grante, ranging from a half to 10 tons in weight each. Its base rests upon a solid rock foundation, and its present height is about 60 feet, though it may be increased 20 feet without any risk of weakness. It is a curved dam, its length of arc being 300 feet and its radius 345 feet. Its base is 30 feet wide, and from this it slopes to three feet wide at the top. Its average coefficient of safety is 25, and it would stand 20 times its present pressure. The engineer was F. E. Brown, a graduate of Yale College and of Yale Scientific School, and one of the largest preperty-owners in the county. The State Engineer of California has pronounced the work not only efficient, but a remarkable piece of engineering.

The lake or reservoir receives the drainage of 200 square miles. It covers an area the Simi and Santa Susanna passes, to coincect Los Angeles and the Santa Ciara Valley in San Buenaventura county, has attracted lately the attention of the railroad men.

Some few months ago chief engineer W. Hood of the Southern Pacific and J. H. Strowbridge, superintendent of construction, examined the line and the two passes for the purpose of testing their availability for railroad purposes. It was announced at the time, and generally believed, that the company proposed building the line, which would then form a short cut, saving many miles between Santa Barbara and Los Angeles. The present coast line route, which the company eventually intends making its main line, runs from Santa Barbara to Newhall, thence to Los Angeles via the Soledad Pass. The cut-off would not be difficult to build, and, moreover, would prevent the ingress of the Santa Fé into a very rich territory which the Southern Pacific has determined to enjoy as its own. However, no steps were taken toward commencing operations on the new route, and it was definitely supposed that the proposition had been abandoned. The Santa Fé company has now been induced to look with favor on the proposition and is stated now to have a survey party in the Simi Vailey. Two routes are proposed-one to run from Los Angeles through the Simi Pass, thence through the San Fernando Valley to Hueneme, and the second to run through both passes into the Santa Ciara Valley, thence along the base of the southern line of foothills into San Buenaventura. The road is one which would certainly pay its constructors, as the trade between the various villages in the valley and Los Angeles has of late assumed large proportions. and Los Angeles has of late assumed large

Some Good Sense.

Bome Good Sense.

[Babybood.]

There is many a father of a family who, while doing his utmost for his children, while he is in health, and making the best provision he can tor them in anticipation of his death, wholly neglects to put such a provision in a taglible shape where it can be readily understood and manipulated by the mother or other guardian in case of his death coming suddenly. A case recently came to our notice where property of considerable value was so tied up with legal restrictions, owing entirely to lack of a few formalities which could have been attended to in a day's work, that the widow and children were kept for more than a year dependent upon the good will of friends before money could be made available. Death is not ordinarily hastened by making preparations for it, and the subject should not be avoided on account of its unpleasant character.

Many a model husband and tather, whose business methods are of the most methodical and strictly honorable kind, would find ample occasion to blame himself for neglect if he would consider for a moment in what confusion his family would be placed if this day should prove his last. A good plan is to make, at least once a year, a written statement of all one's affairs at that time, and file it, in an envelope with the wife's name upon it, in a particular place which she and perhaps one other person shall know of, if not in her own custody. Such memorandum should contain description of life-insurance policies or similar documents, and state where a will, if any, is to be found; encumbrances of any kind should be noted; unfinished transactions one's business affairs were of a fluctuating nature, which could not always be closely followed by his wife or fully explained to h

Small farming is now being experimented within almost every State in the Union with more or less success, but I presume in no State lagit so much a question as in Southern California. From the experience of other countries the success of this undertaking is almost, we may say assured. That a small farm well cultivated and judiciously managed is proportionately much more remunerative than a large one slovenly kept is a fact demonstrated everywhere, but what amount of land will comfortably support an average family is a thing time must reveal.

As to land, desert and etherwise, thought to be unfit for cultivation, I presume it will be here as in Europe, namely, that necessity will bring the greater part of it into fruitfuness. The immense mountain ranges, with their abundant snow deposits, will always be the source of an inexhaustible water supply, which, when husbanded by artificial dams and reservoirs, which can be so easily constructed and at a comparatively small outlay of capital, will redeem the deserts and barren tracts from Nature's inheritance.

The Oceanside Wharf.

[Riverside Enterprise.]

Oceanside is going to have a wharf extending 150 feet into the ocean, and will cost $35,000. The citizens are the stockholders, and the contract has been signed by the Wharf Company, so it is not boom talk, but a sure thing. It is safe to say that place will receive an impetus that will be surprising, and all on account of its facilities for handling and shipping freight by sea and land. In many cases goods destined for San Francisco by sea or coming by sea for northern points will reach their destination a day earlier by way of Oceanside, and the people will probably save something in freight and wharfage, all of which is in favor of the ocean city. The anticipated advance in railroad freights which will probably take place today has been the cause of a rush of business at the large shipping points. In San Francisco there is already on hand 250 carloads of freight, a greater portion of which is wheat and wine, received at the old rates. The Southern Pacific Company could only receive freight at the old rates for shipment after the new rates went into effect, on account of the scarcity of cars and engines, consequently their freighthouses are crammed with freight awaiting shipment. For this reason the business will be heavy over this road during the present month.

&BURBANK!

THE FIRST GRAND EXCURSION!

Will Leave the Commercial-street Station at 10:30 a.m., Saturday, March 17, 1888.

Only 20 minutes' ride to Burbank. Returning, will reach Eos Angeles at 8:80 p.m.

There will be no auction sale and no one will be asked to purchase property. Our only object is to afford an opportunity to all to see Burbank and form their own opinion from a personal examination of its merits. In this lively competition for public favor among the growing towns of Southern California, the realous (and sometimes jealous) advocate of his own town will detract from the merits of some rival locality that is pushing past him to the front. In this way some unfair statements have been put forth as to the merits of Burbank. So confident are we that a personal visis to Burbank will refute and silence all such statements, we have decided to run this pleasure excursion and invite every one to join us, spend a pleasant day, examine and decide for themselves. We have never had an excursion, never employed a brass band nor had street parades; have offered no lottery schemes to tempt purchasers to invest. But, without any show or parade, we have in a few months sold over 900 town lots and 2000 acres of land adjoining, aggregating nearly $600,000. In less than ten months a grain field has been converted into a growing, prosperous town of over 250 bona fide inhabitants. Water, pure, clear and abundant, has been piped to every lot in the town. A 60-room hotel, a street car line one and a half miles in length completed and in operation, brick block erected, stores and bank building completed, a $7000 schoolhouse under contract, two churches in process of construction, a furniture manufactory to employ from 100 to 200 workmen and to be in operation by June 1st, and new dwellings being commenced every day, bespeak for Burbank a push and prosperity not surpassed by any town of its age in the State of California.

NOTE THE FACT: That Burbank is today the most properous suburb of Los Angeles; that Burbank will within 90 days have better and cheaper railroad communication with Los Angeles than any other suburban town; that Burbank will have the largest furniture factory on the Pacific Coast; that Burbank has the most perfect water system, the purest and a superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water; that Burbank possesses a most equable climate, cool in superabundance of water in the superabu and warm in winter; that Burbank is the Commercial center of one of the most fertile and fruitful valleys in Southern California; that Burbank is surrounded by a country that will grow all kinds of cereals and fruits, including oranges and lemons, clives and English walnuts; that the Ostrich Farms Motor Road will be completed to Burbank within 90 days.

Our Foothill Growth.

The transformation that Los Angeles ity has undergone within the past fou or five years is as marvelous as that in the history of any city in the whole country. It is an astonishment to us who have witnessed it. That which was rural and incomplete has disappeared. Los Angeles has no longer the appearance of a large overgrown town—the big village aspect and be longings are things of the past. Our sphere is metropolitan

But growth has been by no means confined to the city proper, or to its immediate suburbs. The country everywhere about it is growing to an exten that it is impossible to realize without actual personal observation.

when all the foothill region was solitary and almost tenantless. The foothills between here and the San Fernando Valley, and those lying between Los Angeles and the Santa Monica range were not sought as places of pop-ular habitation. But all this has changed. The electric, the cable and tor roads which have been built have carried with them the tide of population. The country is filling up rapidly. Homes are scat-tered everywhere. Population is Population is filling up all the way along these lines, and the once solitary footwith an uncontrolled longing for hills have hundreds of homes upon he of sunshine and semi-tropic height and upon hillside, and in the stling levels at their base. The opera through-out is tuneful and inspiriting, and marked by many of the best charac popular composer, Strauss. Miss Winston as the dashing young prince was in her element and sang with her wonted sweetness and effect. Her introduced song "When the Leaves Begin to Fall," was charmingly rendered and won a deserved encore. costumes seemed to be impersonators of those delightful characters to be found only in fairy tales.

The argument of the piece is the rather well worn travesty of the jealousies and strifes of the pettiest of the petty European principalities, and the situations give ample opportunities for the indulgence of grotesque humor, in the rendition of which De Lange and Alex Clark fairly divided the honors as the rival dukes. Mr. Pyke made a galiant attempt to sing his part of "Trombonius," the composer of the future, but after the first act he had to resign in favor of Frank Valerga, who was in the bill to take the character. The chorus went through some yery pretty military evolutions, which were loudly applanded, and the whole perfermance, which was given to a large audience, gathered in spite of the threatening weather, was an emphatic success. It will doubtless draw another large house when it is repeated tonight. Mr. Pyke will appear in The Beggar Student tomorrow night.

The wind caused such a low tide that Camden has suffered from a water famine, the pumps at the water works having been idle since Sunday. Nothing can be done to relieve the city until the tide rises. The crews rushed upon deck, and in their alarm failed to comprehend the orders from captains and mates. Suddenly the crashing of timbers and the escaping of steam almost rendered inaudible the roar of waves and the peculiar noise made by a vessel filling was heard on other craft. Then came shrieks of desperate men battling with the waves, and after a short struggle for supremacy were heard no more. It was afterwards learned that the collision was between the tug George J. Dur-ing the night 28 barks and ing the night 28 barks and schooners were driven ashore or forced above the high-water mark on shore. Every effort was made to prevent this wholesale loss, but the elements proved more powerful than man. The total loss to shipping is estimated at between $400,000 and $500,000. Only two bodies have been recovered. The harbor is choked with fragments, and the waves are running high.

THE BURLINGTON BOAD DISSATISFIED.

The Burlington road is not fully satisfied with the decision made by Judge Gresham. with the decision made by Judge Gresham, as was evident this evening by the filing of another bill before him that will apparently involve a ruling of a much wider scope. According to the bill, an affirmative injunction is sought to compel the Belt Line Railway Company of Chicago to handle the freight of the Burlington, and the Judge is also asked to make an order that will prevent the Belt Line and its officers from refusing to handle "Q." freight, and especially to restrain its employes from declining to do so. The bill states that it is filed under the Interstate Commerce Law, and to prevent a multiplicity of suits by consignees and consignors of freight on account of non-delivery.

Delegates representing the brotherhoods of engineers and firemen on every road entering Chicago were in session today. The delegates from the west, northwest and southwest had formally voted to stick by the Burlington strikers—that is, to refuse under any circumstances to handle a single car. The eastern delegates will report their conclusions tomogroup. conclusions tomorrow. It is not understood that the action of the western men necessarily involves a tie-up of the roads in the west. That idea was voted down, although by a narrow majority. The prevailing judgment was that methods could be found to secure the ends in view without striking.

The sudden sickne lin, in a house of ill-fass shooting was the result which originated over since which time it has developed among the engineers yesterday at the sight of the Burlington cars continat the sight of the Burlington cars continued to spread when the night crews came on and found a "Q" car on nearly every side-track. This morning 18 engineers were sick, and only four of the 17 yard engines were at work. A freight train bound west with one "Q" car in its make-up waited for a crew, but one after another pleaded lilness until the car was marked "I'N BAD ORDER" only a question of the at the hour m ent of the Burington and Missouri, by either driving out of employment the engineers, or compelling them to work for inordinately, low wages. The charges of conspiracy are denied in toto, and the sole reason of the strike is claimed to be the inability of the engineers to support, maintain and educate their families becomingly on the wages paid them by the Burlington and Missouri. The tyranny of the road is complained of, and all legal means to resist it, whether by meetings on the part of the engineers or otherwise, is claimed as a right. In conclusion, the answer denies the power of the court to compel him, or any other of defendants, to continue in work whenever it is his or their desire to quit, and asks that the temporary restraining order be dissolved.

The answer was a great surprise, and further time was asked by the Burlington and Missouri counsel in which to submit affidavits denying the statements contained in it. The Union Pacific attorney urged a speedy decision, as it was of the greatest importance to the interest of the road. Judge Dundy, however, deferred the hearing until Friday.

[Santa Monica Outlook.]

The Palms Review asks the Outlook to give it another "boost." Well, here goes:
The Palms Review has given up the ghost —gone up the flume, as it were. It has gone into that realm of nothingness reserved for all snide things. It died of inantiton, its vital spark was too feeble to keep it ablaze. For ten long, dreary weeks its "editor" (if we may be allowed to prostitute this term) experimented as to how long the paper could be made to live on a minimum quantity of brains and an infinitesimal amount of enterprise. But it was no go. The bantling had to stop breathing—it had to succumb to a premature collapse:

Mr. Cleveland's One Gesture.

[Interview in Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Mr. Cleveland has just one gesture that I have noticed which marks the exhanstion of his patience. At a public business reception, where they come forward one by one and all must stay back till he who is ahead has finished, you will see him begin with that man with his thumbs in his breeches pockets and his fingers hanging down. He will turn his head to one side and let the caller go on with his statement. The President will ask or say something from time to time—after a white you will see him take his thumbs out of his breeches pockets and put both hands behind his back. He will stand listening and conversing a little while longer. Suddenly you will see him throw up his fingers and paims behind and bring them down on the is going to fire that man out.

There is one day in the week when the President will not receive the public. Then, on cabinet days, he only receives them about an hour and a half each day. But there are two or three days when he gives from three to four hours in that public kind of way to people who have come to the door, or advanced a little ways in, in a group, and then one by one are brought forward or in little bevies. He leads such a life as a bank president who insists on having no secretary, seeing everybody who comes up to ask for a loan or a renewal, hearing the why and wherefore, and then writing his own correspondence.

In England a payment of the price of goods delivered is required at the end of three months, dating from the day of ship-

In a few days everything will be ready for selection of the subscribed lots. Price lists and a list showing the order of selection which each subscriber holds will be furnished.

Only a portion of the property will be placed upon the market. This will be sold to subscribers at first prices, which will be increased from time to time, as the work of constructing the hotel, piers and other improvements progress.

The Santa Fe Company has completed the grade from Inglewood to Redondo Beach, and the road will be completed in a few days. The material for the large wharf has arrived at the beach and a large force of men is there ready to commence its construction

Work on the large hotel was commenced three weeks ago. The public should bear in mind that only a limited amount of property is to be sold at this time at the prices to be fixed, and this amount is nearly subscribed for. Persons desiring lots whose names are not in the list should call and make their subscription. A great many of our prominent citizens are only waiting for the railroad to commence running, when they expect to begin the erection of handsome cottages.

A word to the wise is sufficient. Dr. Sweany of Philadelphia has arranged to combine the new method (Bergeon's) COLONY TRACTS! by gaseous enemata, for the cure of consumption and all diseases of the lungs and respiratory tract with his has practiced so successfully in Philadelphia where thousands can testify to the success of his treatment; and now by combining the two systems Dr. Sweany wishes to say to all people who are suffering with consumption. asthma, dyspnoea, catarrh, blood poisens, etc., or any disease whatever of the respiratory organs, that "there is balm in Gilead." That with his ed treatment he can cure any and all cases of consumption and lung

A FEW EXPLANATORY NOTES. The Burgeon treatment for con-umption by gaseous enemata consists of the introduction of the parasiticide gas into the rectum, where it is immediately taken up by the veins and passes through the venous circulation to the liver, from thence to the heart and from thence to the lungs, passing all of this distance through the venous blood, and reaches the lungs in a state of purity, where it can be detected in from one to four minutes after its administration into the rectum. If this gasens substance should have to pass through arterial blood its powerful effects on the diseased lung tissue would be destroyed by the oxygen contained in arterial blood. There is no oxygen in venous blood until it reaches the lungs, where it receives its charge of oxygen from the air drawn into the lungs and an assignment of all his property to I. N. Mundell for the benefit of all his creditors; its believed that it will be for the best interests of all of said creditors that they should held meeting, for the purpose of consultation and consideration, and the adoption of a concerted plan of action, by which the sacrifice of the property so assigned will be averted and the receiver of the state of the such meeting, which will be held at the offices on the disease of the system. all diseases of the lungs, blood, brain and nervons system consists of a course of fereed nutrition, by which me we have nerven events and an event the body and substituted for the disease from the system by fortifying its enemy, nature, and supplying her with material strength, which she can most effectively use in exterminating disease, etc. Persons gain in actual weight while under this treatment from one-quarter to one pound per day, which means a great deal to a weak and debilitated person.

We could not expect of a body of carpenters to go out on a vacant let, build and construct a house without first having the material necessary to construct the house placed within their reach. Hence, how can we expect nature to reconstruct a debilitated and impoverished system without first having the necessary material to be used in the reconstruction placed within her reach. Dr. Sweany's system of hypernutrition places these materials within nature's reach, and the work goes on to a speedy and happy completion, for nature is a skilled mechanic, a true and energetic workman, a preserver and friend to health.

Dr. Sweany has arranged to combine the two new and wonderfully successful methods, and appeals to all who may be suffering to seek relief where it may be had. The one method kills the germ of the disease, while the other goes to assist nature. What can be the result? Health, happiness and long life.

Altogether, it was a very imposing-looking arrangement, and, after gathering up as much of the parapheruals as he could carry, the Chief louked the door, put the key into his pocket and carried his man to the station, where he gave the name of James Ward, and was looked up, charged with grand arceny. Mr. Mandel, the victim, who, by the way, is a New Yorker and here on a visit, is a man 60 years of age, apparently, well informed, and is one of the last men in the world whem one would think could fall into a trap of the kind. He said he was out walking when a yoeng man introduced himself to him as the son of a New York beanker, giving his name. He was a very pleasant talker and made himself so agreeable that the old gentleman was quite taken with him. The young man said he was out here with his mother, and had rooms on Fort street, and finally invited his new friend to come up and see some very fine books he had. The invitation was accepted, and when they reached the house the young man said that he had won a prize in the lottery, and suggested that they stop by and get it. They went into the room, when he gave his number, and the man behind the table told him that he had won the $500, and asked him if he had his ticket. He produced it, and the man handed over a package which apparently contained that amount in curency. He then said that the young man oved him $5, and on his inquiring what for, replied that according to the ruies, he was compelled to purchase another ticket. He did ao, and won. Thinking that it was a winning game. Mandel also bought a ticket, and put up $50, the man saying that entitled him to five draws, and that he could have to double his money. He replied that he did not have any more, when he lottery man told him that his check was perfectly good, and he made out a hother check her $600, the man tearing up the first. He them won, and had one more draw, when he lost, making his indebtedness 1800, and he drew a check for that amount. The other man had lost, too, he said, and at his point the man who ran the lottery gathered up the checks, and remembering what he had read about "bunco" men he came to the police for advice and assistance in getting back his check. The "chart" is of black silk, with gold letters, and is a very neat contrivance. It is entirely too intricate in its combinations for any one but the country to understand, that is there is nest contrivance. It is entirely too intricate in its combinations for any one but the owner to understand—that is, there is nothing beyond certain numbers painted in squares, in some of which there is also a star, and is merely used as a bilind, having no connection whatever with the figures on the cards, of which there were 25. A pile of Louisiana lottery tickets were also included in the make-up of the "layout." The commercial reference book was probably for the purpose of locating victims and finding out their financial standing. James Ward, the "inside worker," is a man about 33 years of age, well-dressed and very gentlemanly in appearance. He is about 5 feet 10 or 11 inches in height, weighs about 160 pounds, has a rather heavy light mustache, and looks like a Jew. He has a very plausible manner, and would create a favorable impression in most instances. Henry Casey, the "steerer," is a larger man than Ward, very well dressed, has a good education apparently, and is a fine talker. As Mandel said, he would impress any one as a gentleman. Both Ward and Casey are dangerous men, and Chief Cuddy deserves credit for getting such expert rascals behind the bars. Mr. Mandel has published a card, stopping thing or two for which he had not been given credit.

During the seventh mile, Pugh's horse holted the track and jumped the fence, throwing the rider, who, atthough somewhat scarred, was quickly again in the saddle, and jumped his horse back on the track, and in the eighth mile passed Clark. Ill luck, however, seemed to pursue him, for in the twenty-seventh mile, when coming down the straight, in consequence of the reins being reversed, his horse again bolted and jumped over the fence, again throwing. Pugh to the ground, and for a moment stunning him. When he arose his face was bleeding and his leg was injured, but, notwithstanding his condition, he mounted and pluckly made as hard a fight as could be expected under the circumstances. The mile was concluded with Clark leading, the time for the race being 1:13%.

Other places, however, had offered sites of five to six acres, and unless something was done it would go to one of them. The railroad company was willing to expend $30,000 or $40,000 for a handsome building, which would be an ornament to any town. They were not asking for anything, but as other cities had donated land for these hospitals, there was no reason why an exception should be made in favor of Los Angeles, especially when other places in this section had been very liberal in this respect. Dr. Ransom had looked over a number of sites in this city, and there was a movement to secure one on Boyle Heights, which he hoped would go through, but nothing had been settled as yet.

"No, not for the city," replied Mr. Rowan "In some instances, where there have been errors in computing mileage and other errors in computing mileage and other items of that sort by country justices we have corrected them. You see, a justice is allowed by law $3 for every case that comes before him. He may convict, dismiss or make any other disposition of it that he pleases, but the county has to pay his bill of $3. There is no getting around this. The law is very plain on the subject, and we have to pay it. Yes, there has been a great deal of complaint about the bills, and the matter has been repeatedly discussed in the board. A sult has been commenced by the Kerck-hoff-Cuzner Mill and Lumber Company and the Brown and Foster Hardware Company against H. N. and D. F. Sheldon and S. Olmstead. Some time ago the Sheldons agreed to erect a dwelling-house for Olmstead, and the two firms who appear as plaintiffs contracted for certain of the material. The first named plaintiff claims $763.60 and the Brown-Foster Hardware Company the sum of $54.48, being the balance due on accounts yet unpaid.

The sneak-thief who entered a room at No. 30 South Fort street, Monday, and stole a quantity of goods belonging to a drummer for an eastern house dealing in optical goods and instruments, is likely soon to be caught. Certain of the goods were found in the possession of Davis, at San Diego, who is accused of being an accompilee of Mrs. Nelson in receiving property which they knew to be stolen. The remainder of the goods has been located by the detectives at a certain store on San Fernando street.

It turns out that Laura Warbeck, who keeps a house of ill-fame on Sepulveda street, who was robbed a few days ago of a pair of diamond earrings, valued at $700, lost them in the morning, and during the afternoon of the same day a thief—probably the visitor of the morning—came and took the balance of her diamonds, valued at $1000, and also another set of earrings belonging to an inmate of the house, which were valued at $1500. A steal of $1850 at one fell swoop was a fine catch for a visitor with the nimble fingers.
